

Khmer Language Course for Foreigners

Course Instruction

The Khmer language Course for foreigners is offered by the Center for Advanced Study (CAS). The course consists of speaking and writing. For the speaking course, the beginners are taught to use transliteration into international phonetic alphabets (IPA) and practice conversation and for the writing course, they start with Khmer vowels and consonants, preceded by reading and speaking practice. The courses include modern Khmer with different topics mainly on everyday life, communication, tradition, culture, art and art history.

The Khmer language course is given to both an individual and a group of learners. The course is available in the morning and the afternoon sessions, according to the students' wish. Instruction is provided by local Cambodian experienced teachers and linguists. The course is coordinated by Dr. Hean Sokhom, director of the CAS.

Course Period

The CAS offers 3-month speaking course and 3-month writing course. The course is five days a week, 90 minutes a day, excluded the weekend.
